TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Adjunct Lecturer, CUNY Queens College, Queens, NY, United States (SU20)

- Taught one class of Price Theory to 15 undergraduate students, both majors and non-majors.
- Developed syllabus, designed problem sets and exams, and held office hours each week.
- Demonstrated how to apply microeconomic models to consumers' and firm's decision-making problems at an advanced level.
- Helped students learn necessary mathematical methods used in those economics analysis, and provided practical tools to evaluate the impacts of some public policies.

Adjunct Lecturer, CUNY Hunter College, New York, NY, United States (SP16, AU19, SP20)

- Taught one class of Principles of Microeconomics in two semesters (AU19, SP20), to an average of 90 diverse undergraduate students, both majors and non-majors.
- Taught a class of Intermediate Microeconomics (SP16) to 32 undergraduate students, mostly of Economics major.
- Developed syllabi and lesson plans, designed exams, and held office hours.
- Presented and illustrated models and other tools to help students learn the behaviors of individual consumers, households and firms in the economy.
- Interacted with many first-generation college students, learned from their experiences and improved understanding about the barriers to equity in education.
- On weekly basis, posted discussions on forums to reinforce learning beyond the classroom.
- Provided accommodations for students with disabilities to promote an accessible and inclusive education environment.
- Created class activities in response to different students' learning styles.
- Used multimedia, PowerPoint and cases to stimulate learning process.

Quantitative Reasoning Fellow, CUNY Hunter College, New York, NY, United States (AU18, SP19)

- Designed Math in Economics tutorials that covered eight topics from reading graphs in introductory Economics courses to calculating derivatives and Stata basics in more advanced Economics classes.
- Clarified both basic and complex Economic concepts and methods, to increase students' understanding of class content.
- Reviewed mathematical and statistical methods for students who take Economics courses that require those knowledge as prerequisites.
- The tutorials were used in both Dolciani Mathematics Learning Center and Economics Tutoring Center of Hunter College.

Graduate Teaching Fellow (Instructor of Record), CUNY Queens College, Queens, NY, United States (AU15, SP16, AU16, SP17, AU17, SP18)

- Taught Introduction to Microeconomics (SP18) to 29 undergraduate students, both majors and non-majors.
- Taught one class of Introduction to Econometrics in three semesters (SP16, AU16, SP17), to an average of 16 undergraduate students, mostly of Economics major.

- Taught one class of Introduction to Macroeconomics in two semesters (AU15, AU17), to an average of 46 undergraduate students, both majors and non-majors.
- Developed syllabi, designed problem sets and exams, and held lab sessions and office hours.
- Introduced students to basic theory and empirical approaches in Economics, and prepared them for higher levels of Economics studies.
- Created empirical projects, exercises, and opportunities of oral presentation, for students to demonstrate teamwork and problem-solving skills.
- Assessed students' progress through both formative and summative evaluations.

Teaching Assistant, CUNY Baruch College, New York, NY, United States (SP15, AU15)

- Facilitated recitations sessions for Principles of Microeconomics and Principles of Macroeconomics courses.
- Increased students' competency with concepts and analyses from large lectures, through in-class exercises and practice problem sets.
- Utilized a multimedia approach to engage students' interest in economics models and key variables from those models.

Economics Tutor, CUNY Hunter College, New York, NY, United States (AU14, SP15)

- Tutored in a list of undergraduate level courses, including Microeconomics, Macroeconomics, Money and Banking, Economic Statistics, Econometrics, International Trade, International Finance, Corporate Finance, and Security and Investment Analysis.
- Provided one-on-one instruction to students at the Economics Tutoring Center, to improve their skills in solving economics problems.
- Clarified economics concepts and theories through graphic presentation of models and other tools, to increase students' understanding of class content.
- Reviewed basic topics in probability and statistics for students to build solid foundation for further study of econometrics.
- Helped students learn techniques in empirical research and familiarized them with the application of those techniques to a variety of economic datasets.

Teaching Assistant, Miami University, Oxford, OH, United States (AU13, SP14)

- Assisted professors teaching Economics courses (Game Theory with Economic Applications and Examining Economic Data and Models in SP14, and Principles of Microeconomics in AU13, SP14 semesters) with grading assignments, holding exam review sessions, and proctoring exams.
